COMMUNITY DONATIONS

Food Bank

Many of our clients have ESG targets. Square Mile Farms has an active program that not only contributes to the environmental, but also the social impact elements. We can connect you with organisations from your local community to enable you to donate harvests, whether it's a full yield or surplus produce. We partner with various types of organisations, including:

Food Rescue Charities

The charities we collaborate with play a crucial role in distributing food to individuals and families experiencing food insecurity in their local community.

Community Kitchens

We team up with community kitchens that host a variety of supper clubs and community meals. These initiatives invite engagement and ensure that nutritious meals are provided to those in need.

Soup Kitchens

We partner with soup kitchens dedicated to serving the vulnerable members of your local community, including those experiencing homelessness.

COMMUNITY ENRICHMENT

Beyond donating the produce from your Office Farm harvests, we partner with community organisations, facilitating connections between you and these groups to host diverse events that bring together the local community within your Office Farms' spaces.

School Group

Farm Tours

We run farm tours to showcase how agriculture integrates into office spaces and to offer an educational immersive experience on the functionality of hydroponic systems.

Community Harvests

We facilitate harvest events on our your farms. These educational visits aim to empower individuals with valuable knowledge and practical tools for sustainable farming practices.

School Visits

We collaborate with local schools to provide guided tours of the Office Farm, engaging students with hands-on harvesting experiences.

COMMUNITY IMPACT

We collect the data from every community initiative, from the amount of portions donated to the number of people engaged, we provide you with valuable insights into your contributions to community-focused ESG initiatives.

We create an impact that extends beyond your Office Farm. By raising awareness in the wider community about the importance of nutritious food, local sourcing, and home growing, we aim to foster lasting positive changes in lifestyle and mindset.
